FEDECRAIL Conference 20th-23th April

Krems an der Donau, Austria

Krems an der Donau in Austria has been chosen as this year's conference venue. Krems is one of the oldest cities in Austria, a university town, and an important railway junction. It is the "gateway" to the magnificent cultural landscape of the Wachau, which is a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

A worthy setting, to host the FEDECRAIL conference and serve as a starting point for a compact study tour programme for both young and experienced, and of course the young-at-heart museum railway enthusiasts. Donau University Krems - our important partner in the organization - is kindly providing us with premises and technical equipment.

Thursday 20th April

We start the check in and we have a Meet and Greet in the evening at the University. The check in will open after lunch.

Friday 21th April

Workgroup meetings will be held in the morning. Followed by lunch. After lunch we will have an program for the participants and in the evening a dinner for all.

For partners and friends there will be a visit to the Wachaubahn, returning by boat.

Saturday 22 th April

We will visit Vienna, with several different things planned such as a heritage tram ride, there of many fine sites in Vienna so there will be a site seeing tour.

Sunday 23th April

There will be lectures in the morning. Then at 13:00 we will have the AGM, which will take about 2 hours. The conference is held in conjunction with our partners Europa Nostra and the University of Krems.

A partners and friends program is planned for those who do not wish to attend the conference around the local world heritage sites.

We end the conference with a network dinner for all participants, friends and partners.
